

The Atlanta Street Art Project utilizes several permissions to enhance the user experience. First, we required that you enable permissions to use your location, as this allows the application to sort art nearest to you in addition to allowing you to navigate to art that you find. We also request to access your local storage when you wish to submit photos. Neither of these permissions are mandatory and the application may still be used with this in mind. The Atlanta Street Art Project team collects no data on personal information and we do not ask for any information that could allow us to identify you.
